 Card #3

Brent is the copilot of a rescue mission, sent after Colonel Taylor's ship was determined to have gone awry, in its flight to another star. An idealist, has become more than a bit cynical about the mission and the governmental reasons behind the mission to find Taylor; both from the head of A.N.S.A.-Burton- as well as the President of the United States, "find Taylor at all costs, though you can never reveal ANYTHING about THIS mission to ANYONE". He also has qualms with the big brother like "Super Computer", onboard who sees all and watches over all onboard their ship, while speaking to them with it's sickly sweet female persona. Single, and an adventurer by nature, he is like his friend Taylor, but his dreams are not nearly as dark.

His pilot, nicknamed "Skipper"- Colonel Maddox, is a bit older and has come to grips with the military style of A.N.S.A. and knows better than to question orders. He has a family and children and is looking forward to retirement with this mission being his last big hurrah before settling down.

Brent's ship follows the same trajectory, and runs into the same problems, crash-landing in the Forbidden Zone only this time on land; 3975 A.O.
